PUBLIC STORIES OF MATHEMATICS EDUCATORS

I Am From…

Tamika N. Ball
Therrell Educational Complex
School of Health Sciences and Research

I am from the ear piercing southern bell pearl wearing South
I am from curtsey practicing debutant balling church going any given Sunday suburban world
I am from village raising lady like displaying surroundings
I am from toe-touching school spirit loving high volume talking atmospheres
I am from single parent living midnight studying straight “A” making higher learning households
I am from nightly homemade biscuit making interior decorating walls
I am from day dreaming hopeful can’t stop wanting until I get it lifestyles I am from learning more when you listen and treating others the way you want to be treated living
I am from live by example someone’s always watching you, so be on your P’s and Q’s environment
I am my environment, I live my environment, I am from here can’t you see Well sure Mrs. Ball we see, the pearls, the “tude,” you reaching for the stars, but do you see me?
I am from the hood wearing, tight leggings, walking out my mother’s house without a head turning home
I am from late waking, no book carrying, asking for a pencil, yes a pencil, 180 days out of the year bright star

---

TAMIKI N. BALL is a mathematics teacher at Therrell Educational Complex, School of Health Sciences and Research, Atlanta, GA and a first-year doctoral student at Georgia State University. She is the 2012-2013 Atlanta Public Schools District Teacher of the Year; her research interest includes the implementation of instructional technology in the urban mathematics classroom.
I am from calm your neck phrasing, curse sailing, hallway skipping except your class “cause” you’re cool school
I am my environment, I live my environment, I am from here can’t you see Well sure bright star I see, the style, the “tude,” you acting like you don’t really want it but do you see “we”?
We are from afternoon tutoring, Cornell note writing, Math I, II, and III passing reality
We are from repeated practicing, White Board relay winning, tic-tac-toe “MATHO” champion class
We are from reward card winning, homework pass receiving, online assignment doing before Mrs. Ball calls my momma again order We make our environment, we live our environment, we are from here can’t you see